PADUCAH KENTUCKY. MONDAY EVENING. JAN. 15. 1906.

APPROPRIATIONS ARE ABOUT DECIDED ON

Expenditures For the City to Be Reduced $30,000 and Possibly More.

The apportionment ordinance for the year 1906 has been practically agreed on by members of the council and board of aldermen, and will come up this evening, when the legislative boards will first meet as a committee of the whole, and later the council will meet in regular session.

The various appropriations for various city departments are agreed on as follows, as compared with last year

Departments:—	1906.	1905.
Salaries,	$17,400	$17,500
Streets,	18,000	28,000
Fire Department,	24,000	29,000
Police,	20,000	24,460
Electric Light Plant,	7,500	10,000
Water,	12,500	11,500
City Hall,	1,000	1,500
Oak Grove,	2,500	2,500
New Cemetery,	500
Pauper and Charity,	3,000	6,000
Riverside Hospital,	5,000
Sanitary and Pest House,	3,000	3,000
General Expenses,	5,000	5,000
Interest,	23,500	25,500
Sinking Fund,	8,000	8,000
Library,	3,500	5,500
Floating Debt,	9,405	13,335
Contingent Fund,	25,000	1,500
Costs of Suits,		5,000
Schools,		35,000

Total, $188,805.

The above makes no provision for the schools, but the city will probably give the schools as much as a 35 cent levy will raise, about $35,000.

The extra work done on the light plant is to come out of the contingent fund, hence the small light plant appropriation this year.

The city expects to raise as much revenue from outside sources this year as last, about $75,000.

It is not known what changes, if any will be made tonight in the above, but there may be a few.

MARSHALL FIELD IS SLOWLY SINKING

Hope Almost Abandoned for the Merchant Prince.

A Change For the Worse Came at Midnight—His Wife is at His Bedside.

PERSONAL COUNSEL ARRIVES.

New York, Jan. 15.—Marshall Field, the Chicago millionaire merchant, is slowly sinking this morning, and death is thought to be only a matter of a few hours. Oxygen is being administered the patient during the sinking spells. There was a decided change for the worse noted in his condition shortly after midnight. A weaker pulse early this morning showed that the pneumonia was progressing rapidly and it was apparent he was slowly succumbing to the disease.

The critical stage of Mr. Field's illness was expected today, pneumonia having developed five days ago. The wife of the Chicago merchant and Stanley Field, his nephew, remain hopeful.

What was regarded as a significant incident yesterday was the arrival from Chicago of William G. Beal, Mr. Field's personal counsel. Beal hastened to the sick chamber. Doctors James, Janeway and Billings, remained with Mr. Fields last night.

This will be an important session of the legislature for many reasons, and a great deal of hard work will be done. I propose to take an active part in everything the people from my section want done.

Senator Campbell is a prominent figure in Frankfort and is recognized as one of the ablest and most interesting speakers in the state. His influence is also in keeping with his ability as a speaker, and the district will be well represented.

Lieut. Gen. Chaffee Resigns.

BLOODSHED FEARED OVER CZAR'S EMPIRE

On the Coming Anniversary—An Evil Omen Reported.

Governor of a Province Is Injured With Bombs Thrown by Revolutionists.

CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING

St. Petersburg, Jan. 15.—The sanguinary tragedy in the famous restaurant "The Bear" at an early hour yesterday morning in which the student, Davidoff, was shot and killed by Count Sheremetieff and the count was badly battered by friends of the dead man has cast a shadow over the New Year festivities.

The custom of making New Year calls obtains in Russia to a larger extent than in any other country in the world and at every reception yesterday the affair of "The Bear" was the subject of conversation, it being universally accepted by superstitious Russians as an augury that blood, passion and violence will reign in the empire in 1906.

Strangely enough the Zritel (Spectator) printed a picture representing the spectre of death interrupting and spreading consternation at a New Year feast.

Governor Hurt By Bomb.

Cherbigoff, Russia, Jan. 15.—Two bombs were hurled yesterday at Gen. Khavostov, governor of this province, as he was driving home from the cathedral. The governor was seriously hurt and his wife slightly injured.

WIDOW'S HOME ON "STILT ROW" IS BLOWN AWAY

This morning at 11 o'clock a house occupied by Mrs. Cates, a widow, residing on Elizabeth St. near Sixth, blew down.

The house was of the "gun barrel" type, standing on weak supports, and was one of the houses forming a row known as "stilt row."

There were two rooms to it, and the wind caught and blew the structure down into the hollow, many feet below, demolishing it and scattering the household goods in every direction.

Luckily Mrs. Cates was not at home and no one was in the house at the time it went over. The structure is said to be a complete wreck. The occupants works at a factory. Her household effects are badly damaged.

GUNBOAT PADUCAH HAS A PRISONER

Last Dominican Battle.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Jan. 15.—A sanguinary, and the final battle has taken place near Guayubin, between the troops of General Caceres, the temporary president of Santo Domingo, and the insurgent. The former was victorious. Several generals on both sides were killed or wounded.

The gunboat Independencia, which recently went over to the insurgents intends, on the advice of former President Morales, to return to Santo Domingo and surrender if the government will guarantee the safety of its officers and crew, it is expected also that the government of Monte Cristi, will follow the advice of General Morales and surrender that place provided the necessary guarantee as to safety be given.

Depends On That Treaty.

San Juan, P. R., Jan. 15.—While stretched on a cot in the hospital here General Charles Carlos F. Morales, former president of Santo Domingo, who arrived here on the United States gunboat Dubuque, requested the Associated Press to convey to the American people, particularly to President Roosevelt and others of the authorities at Washington, the expression of his sincere thankfulness for the assistance accorded him while president of the republic.

"The future salvation of Santo Domingo," he said, "is dependent entirely on the ratification of the pending convention by the United States senate and congress of Santo Domingo. I believe that the majority of the people of the republic agree with me in this, as they all know that the continuance of the revolutionary agitation means continual ruin."

The general says he is satisfied that he has worked for the welfare of his country to the best of his ability. His broken ankle was the result of the parting of a rope of vines by which he was trying to climb a precipice, and was not caused by a fall from his horse as reported.

Members of Gen. Morales' family will arrive this week.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Paducah People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Paducah.

THE DEPUTY JAILER

Mr. Charles Unselt Declines and Jailer Eaker Will Have No Deputy Except His Brother.

Mr. Charles Unselt, of the Woodville section, who was appointed deputy county jailer by Jailer James Eaker, is in Paducah today and has declined the office, saying he cannot find anyone to attend to his business properly for him.

He is running a stock farm and breeds fine cattle and horses. His business is such that it requires the closest attention and he does not care to risk leaving it in anybody's hands.

Jailer Eaker stated this morning that he would have no deputy if Mr. Unselt did not finally accept, but would attend to the duties himself. His brother, Coroner Frank Eaker, has been acting as deputy and will remain at the jail part of the time to assist his brother.

Coroner Eaker can be reached there by phone, Jailer Eaker having installed one in the jail office.

JUDGE LIGHTFOOT GOES TO NASHVILLE

To Investigate in Connection With a New Court House.

Has Heard of Plan That He Believes Would Be Successful Here.

ENCOURAGED OVER PROSPECT

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot will leave tomorrow for Nashville, Tenn., on business connected with the plan to build the county a new court house and jail.

Several weeks ago Judge Lightfoot learned that the Nashville court house and jail were built by a southern firm which erected the building merely for the consideration of a site in the business locality of the city. The firm erected an office building many stories high, the county furnishing the site. One department was fitted out in the most elaborate style for the court house and another for the jail and it cost the county very little. The firm gets back its money in renting the remainder of the building for offices and business enterprises.

Judge Lightfoot presented this plan to fiscal court recently and the magistrates were pleased with it. Judge Lightfoot wrote to Nashville to get the name of the firm and some data in regard to its operations but has never received an answer. He decided to go in person and will leave tomorrow to make an investigation.

When asked if he thought this plan would be a good one for the company in Paducah, Judge Lightfoot declared he thought it would. "I think such an office building would pay in this city," he stated, "and think I can get the firm to send representatives here, and look over the city with view of building a court house and jail here. I am sure Paducah is large enough to warrant and make safe such an investment and I have hopes of being at least partly successful in my visit."

Judge Lightfoot has been working hard to secure a new jail and court house and has the most economical ideas in view. His visit will be watched with interest by the public in general.

TWENTY YEARS

Given a Negro Said to Be From Paducah for Assault.

George Alexander, a negro said to be from Paducah, was given twenty years in the penitentiary at Henderson Saturday on a charge of criminally assaulting a colored woman near there. Seven were for the death penalty.

The name of the woman is Frances Gordon, and she claimed that Alexander came to her home near Spottsville, near Henderson, asked for a drink of water, and upon ascertaining that no one else was there, returned shortly afterwards and assaulted her, also robbing her of a watch he took from the wall. He was pursued as soon as the alarm could be given, and caught in Henderson. Alexander is said to be a steamboat rouster, but he is not known to the police here, at least not by that name.

THE BUTCHERS

WILL ORGANIZE AN ASSOCIATION FOR PROTECTION.

The Preliminary Steps Taken at the Elks Hall Yesterday Afternoon.

The butchers held a meeting at the Elks hall yesterday afternoon to perfect an organization similar to the Retail Merchants' Association and Retail Grocers' Association.

They held the first meeting the 7th of this month. At the meeting yesterday a committee was appointed to get up the bylaws and rules for the association, and bring in a report at the meeting to be held Sunday, January 28th.

"We are merely taking steps to right some abuses and effect some mutual benefits," said a butcher today. "We are not going to raise prices or form a trust, but shall adopt measures that will help our trade. The retail merchants and the grocers, in fact every line of business, all have an association of this sort of great benefit to the members and the public at large and we believe we shall find the same true in our case."

Some of the butchers claim they are greatly imposed on and discriminated against. They are charged a regular license, have to pay stall rent for their positions at the market house, and their meats are inspected and often, they claim, seized and thrown away when the condition does not justify it.

Others are allowed to sell meat without a license, they claim, and to handle it without a license, and their meat is never inspected. The butchers seem to believe that everyone who handles meat should be made to pay the same amount as a license. Hacksters come to town with meat collected in various parts of the country, and sometimes of doubtful quality and condition, do not have to pay any thing or submit it to any kind of regulation, and pay no taxes. And yet they enter into active competition with those who do.

J. R. Swift alleges that Hart robbed him of $80 Saturday night, but Hart says the young man is laboring under a false impression. He admits that he was with Swift, who is alleged to have been drinking, at the time, and carried him home when he wanted to go early in the evening. Hart claims that he did not secure any money from Swift and did not know he had it.

The two were in the Red Light district and several witnesses from that locality have been summoned to appear in the case. Both young men are well known and this is their first experience in court. Hart is represented by Senator Wheeler Campbell. The case was continued.

Bernard Schulte, alias Sulte, white was granted a continuance in police court this morning until Wednesday "pending negotiations." He is charged with passing two worthless checks one for his board bill and another for a suit of clothes. His attorney stated in court this morning that he desired a continuance pending negotiations, but Judge Sanders did not speak approvingly of the continuance, although he granted it.

"When a man is arraigned on a felony charge and is brought into court for trial, and then pays the money and goes free because he is not prosecuted," Judge Sanders remarked, "does not appeal to me to be a wise form of legal procedure. I don't think this right, and when a man is arraigned for any crime, in my opinion he should stand trial as any other felon."

Attorney Corbett for the defense, explained that this was not the class of negotiations he was carrying on, and the case was postponed with understanding it be tried Wednesday.

John Armstrong, white, was fined $50 and costs in police court this morning on motion of the prosecuting attorney for cutting in sudden heat and passion. He was charged with maliciously cutting Pete Anderson, colored, who received a slight scratch on the left side of the face. Anderson claims he was walking along the street when Armstrong suddenly jumped out from a building and slashed at him with a knife, succeeding in inflicting a slight injury.

It is presumed that the negro Ballinger, who was arrested here last week for petty larceny and who was suspected of being wanted in Tunica county, Miss., for alleged murder, is not the right man as nothing has been heard from the Mississippi authorities about the photograph sent them.

As soon as the authorities not the resemblance in a photograph of the fugitive from Mississippi, and the man under arrest, Ballinger was photographed and the picture sent the Mississippi authorities for identification. The photograph has doubtless reached its destination, but the police have heard nothing. They presume a telegram would have been sent to hold him had the negro proven to be the right one.

Mr. C. J. Grouse, of the Webb-Phillips Commission company, reported the loss of his suit case to the police yesterday. He gave it to a negro man to carry from the river to the Palmer House, and paid him a dime. When he reached the Palmer House his suit case had not arrived, and he has been able to find neither negro nor suit case. It contained a lot of samples, wearing apparel and such things.

Other cases acted on in police court today were:

RIVER NEWS

The river fell 0.8 of a foot last night, the gauge registering 22.8 ft. this morning.

At 8 o'clock this morning the barometer registered 29.1, wind from the south, an indication of a great change in the weather in the next 24 hours.

The Richardson took the Butteroff's place today in the Cumberland river trade and left at noon for Clarksville.

The Joe Fowler was the Evansville packet today.

The Dick Fowler got away on time today for Cairo with a good trip of passengers and freight. She had the household effects of a number of Henderson county people en route to Ballard county to live.

The Duffy came in yesterday with 40,000 ties for the Ayer and Lord Tie company, and left today for the Cumberland river.

The Joe B. Williams passed up with a tow of empties Sunday.

The wind of last night and today caused some uneasiness in river circles and caused everyone to look carefully at his moorings. The only damages reported here was the loss of three empty barges belonging to Captain Ed Woolfolk. They were tied at the West Kentucky Coal Co. moorings and were blown away last night. The Dick Fowler had instructions to keep a lookout for them and tie them up if they were found.

The Chas. Turner was inspected by the inspectors for this district, Capt. Geo. M. Green and W. J. Macdonald, and leaves tonight for the Cumberland river. The Wilford was also inspected today and will leave tonight for the Tennessee river.

The Mary Michael leaves tomorrow for Memphis with a tow of coal for the West Kentucky Coal company. She will bring the Fannie Wallace back with her and the Wallace will be used as a harbor boat here.

According to the report of the United States navigation commissioner, which has just been published, Memphis is the largest river port in the United States. Memphis has more boats enrolled, according to the report, both in number of packets engaged in traffic that make Memphis their home and also in amount of tonnage. Next to Memphis with its 84 boats and 12,318 tons, comes St. Louis, with its 75 boats and 27,820 tons. The tonnage shows up for St. Louis larger than that of Memphis but is accounted for by the fact that several barges make St. Louis a home port and this craft is not entitled to be named as boats registered in traffic boats.

Reports have reached this city of the death of Capt. George W. Bookout, who died in the marine ward in the infirmary at Vicksburg, Miss. The deceased was a veteran steamboatman and owned a packet in the paly days of packeting on the Mississippi. He lived to see the rise and fall of steamboating on the Father of Waters, when a river captain was one of the greatest of men in his section. He spent his entire life afloat and was well known to every river man in this country.—Memphis News-Scimitar.

Excursions by river to the Mammoth Cave will be very popular next spring and summer from Louisville, Evansville and Paducah. All three cities will probably have nice excursion boats in the trade.

One of the most popular and successful steamboat owners and managers in the country is Capt. Robert E. Lee of the famous Cincinnati, Louisville and Memphis Lee Line steamers. He is a boatman and a business man, a worthy successor of his late father, Capt. James Lee, of Memphis.—Courier-Journal.

Many there are in this city who know Mr. E. C. Bohne, the prominent banker, but few among them know that when he first landed in this country he rolled bales of cotton on the levee at New Orleans and Red river boats. Those were the happiest days of his life.—Courier-Journal.

A new sand barge just built at the marine ways and shipyard at Madison arrived at Howard's to be forwarded to H. L. Block, of St. Louis. Two more are being built there for the same party and all three will be sent to St. Louis at an early day.

The sunk Rose Hite is to be raised and sold.

The first Robert E. Lee was built in New Albany during the war. She beat the Natchez in a race from New Orleans to St. Louis, making the fastest time ever made by a steamboat. The second Robert E. Lee was built by Ed J. Howard at Jeffersonville. She was a faster boat than the first Lee, and Capt. John W. Cannon, who built and owned both boats, once said: "It seems strange that I should build a boat to beat my own boat's time, but I have done it, and I'll never let her go to beat the time of the first Lee, though I am satisfied she can do it." And she could. The second "Bob Lee" was the fastest steamboat in this country and Capt. Cannon was as proud of the second Bob Lee as he was of the first one he built.—Courier-Journal.

Remains Buried Here.

The remains of Mrs. James Spence arrived yesterday from Pascala, Mo., and were buried at Oak Grove. She died Thursday. Her son, D. Byard, accompanied the body. She was widow of the late Judge James Spence, of the city, and a sister of Mrs. Mattie Norvell, of Paducah.

MILK AND MEAT INSPECTOR.

The board of health's position on the question of abolishing the office of milk and meat inspector is a good one, but it has apparently acted on theory without ascertaining much about existing conditions. The duties required of a milk and meat inspector are designed to be of inestimable benefit to a community, and would be of a great benefit to a community—provided they were faithfully discharged.

As a matter of fact, however, the work of the milk and meat inspector in Paducah has always been something similar to that of the sanitary inspectors. All last summer the public was told by the authorities that the city was "in a better sanitary condition than ever before," which those whose business took them over the city knew was absurd, or else that Paducah's sanitary condition must have been abominably bad before.

Those in a position to know can attest the fact that the work of the milk and meat inspector since the office was established, has been equal to any complete and satisfactory. There are thousands of pounds of meat sold every week, and thousands of gallons of milk sold and consumed that he never sees. It is admitted that both meat and milk should be inspected by a competent man, and not a pound or a pint should be permitted to pass until its purity has been established. But it is not, and if it is not, and if the protection so essential to the health of the people is not afforded the people, there is no reason $500 or more a year should be wasted on the office.

During the fall, winter and spring a large part of the meat consumed in Paducah comes from the country, and is sold at outlying groceries and meat markets by hucksters or farmers. As a butcher remarked, "Is the meat inspector supposed to be only for the market house? Why doesn't he inspect the meat brought to the city by people from the country? This meat is sold all over town and ver, little of it is ever inspected."

The Sun was the first paper to suggest the office of milk and meat inspector, and has always been for it and is still for it, but it believes that if the office is to be longer maintained, an investigation should be made into the manner in which the provisions of the ordinance establishing the office are carried out and something be done to insure a proper discharge of the duties of the office in the future. Public money should be spent for practical results, not for theories.

One of the members of the general assembly has proposed a bill to do away with concealed weapon carrying by depriving a person of the plea of self-defense if he shoots another with a pistol that was carried concealed. This might be a good law, but it might be knocked sky-high by the court of appeals. A man's right to defend his life or to plead self-defense if he kills another, cannot be abrogated or modified by any law. The state of Kentucky might make a law that a man could not plead self-defense at all when he killed another, but that is no sign it would be constitutional, for it would not be. The way to break up pistol carrying is by looking for violators of the law, and enforcing the law against them when they are found, not by making freak laws.

The revenue agents of the state are up in arms over the recommendations incorporated in the report of the state inspector, because they would "restrict them in their work." Revenue agents may be invaluable under the present inadequate system of assessment, but the general public needs protection from needless suits, many of which are brought without the slightest grounds, and are dismissed only after good citizens have been published to the world as tax dodgers. Countless corporations by big suits against them are held up in a light that is not conducive to an amelioration of the often unjust sentiment that already exists against them in the state, and also deserve better treatment.

Something should be done to stop the unnecessary whistling of locomotives in the railroad yards here at night. A certain amount of whistling is always necessary, and no reasonable person can object to it. But the blasts that often disturb the entire city night after night seem to be unnecessary, and have become a public nuisance. The people residing in the vicinity of the yards are not the only ones who complain. It is believed that if the courteous officials of the railroad companies knew to what extent the whistling privilege is being abused it would soon cease.

Lincoln Steffens, the political writer, has gone to Washington to ascertain whose government this really is. We shall await his verdict with impatience. He says in an interview at the national capital: "I have spent all these years of my mature life inquiring into the condition and character of our state and municipal governments, and I know something about them. They are corrupt. Some are worse than others, but none is very good." Mr. Steffens does not intimate what he intends to do when he finds out what he wants to know.

The government has arrested the members of a New York patent medicine concern for conspiracy. The company's advertisements claimed the medicine possessed almost every power, even to the raising of the dead. The worst feature of the case is that the company had about one million patrons. Now that the government has cornered the swindlers, the fool-chaser ought to get busy rounding up the million suckers to use as witnesses.

JUVENILE COURT BILL TOMORROW

It Will Be for First and Second Class Cities.

Attorney General Hays Wants Six Assistants — Bill for Them Introduced.

A CIGARETTE BILL LOBBY

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 15.—One of the most important bills of this session will be presented tomorrow by W. F. Klair, of Lexington, providing for a juvenile court system. The chances are favorable to passage of the law.

The bill confers upon the county courts of the state exclusive jurisdiction in misdemeanor cases of boys under seventeen years of age. It would be desirable from the standpoint of people back of the bill to also have children charged with felonies placed in this jurisdiction, but the bill cannot get around the constitutional provision that magistrates and certain other judicial officers shall have jurisdiction over all felony cases.

The primary object of the bill is to separate children from adult criminals, from whom the child really learns his lessons in crime.

Only in Louisville and in counties which contain cities of the second class can the county court appoint a salaried probation officer. In all other counties the probation officers must be volunteers, but the experience in states which have adopted the juvenile court bill has been that plenty of persons of good character will volunteer for the work.

The child may be sent to a detention school or sent back to his home, but it is the duty of the probation officers to keep in close touch with him.

The bill is so framed as to give the juvenile court authority to punish parents or guardians for contributory negligence, and to impose either a jail sentence or a fine on them if found guilty. The bill also contains a clause that the child in certain cases may be tried by jury. One provision in the bill is that no child under fourteen years of age may be incarcerated in a county jail.

Attorney General Wants Help.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 15.—Attorney General N. P. Hays is making a fight for the bill which was introduced a few days ago, providing for six assistants in his office.

The bill provides for three legal assistants, one clerk and two stenographers. At present the entire work of the legal department of Kentucky is transacted by Mr. Hays and one stenographer, who gives part of his time of the office, and high-priced special attorneys.

Attorney General Hays said:

The work is so congested in this office that I have on file now the appeals of 100 prisoners, who are languishing in jail. Waiving aside their constitutional right to a fair and speedy trial, it costs the state $50 a day to maintain them, far less than it would cost to give me assistants. Each prisoner costs the state fifty cents a day. With the three assistants I have asked for we could dispose of these cases quickly and relieve the state of this extra expense.

"Besides that we have on file 111 cases which are being attended to by special counsel. Judge Hazelrigg is now in Washington arguing before the supreme court five cases. Col. Bennett H. Young and Judge William Lindsay are constantly employed at a high price by the state to carry on the railroad commission cases. I have many cases in the federal court which are being delayed and about 100 cases in the state fiscal court."

Lobby Against Cigarette Bill.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 15.—A lobby has been established here to fight the anti-cigarette bill, which was introduced in the senate by Senator Gorlin. A prominent former state official is said to be at the head of the lobby, and as it is backed by the American Tobacco company a determined fight will be made to kill the measure.

At present the bill looks like it has favorable chances of passage. A similar bill passed the legislature during Gov. Bradley's administration, but during a temporary absence of Gov. Bradley it was vetoed by Lieut. Gov. Worthington.

J. J. Lane Appointed Constable.

J. J. Lane has been appointed constable in the Fifth district, the regular elected officer failing to qualify, not desiring the office.

NATIONAL MEETING IN WASHINGTON

Secretary D. W. Coons Attending Waterways Convention.

He Has Credentials From the City and Will Then Go to New York.

IS AN IMPORTANT MISSION.

Secretary D. W. Coons, of the Commercial club, who went east several days ago, carried with him credentials from the city of Paducah as a delegate to the National Waterways convention, which began today at Washington. Secretary Coons will go to New York to attend to other important matters, after the convention at Washington is over.

The Waterways convention is of great importance, and is called for the purpose of arousing a lively interest throughout the entire country, so that the merchant, tiller of the soil, or any and all classes of business men interested in the waterways' appropriation by the Rivers and Harbors committee of the house of representatives in any way, in transportation or tariff reduction on any commodities whatsoever, may be benefited by legislation of this character.

The inland waterways of the United States have never up to the last five years received their just share of attention from the Rivers and Harbors committee of the National house of representatives on this momentous subject, and the country is only now awakening to its dire needs in this direction. Our sea coast and lake front cities have for many years received due and lavish attention from the Rivers and Harbors committee, and it is but right, just and proper that those cities dependent upon the inland waterways, for rate adjustment and cheaper transportation, should receive a like amount of attention.

The Ohio Valley Improvement Association representing the Ohio valley, being the originator of this National Waterways convention, will of necessity take an active interest in the deliberations of the convention, and is represented at Washington by many delegates from the many cities interested in the association from Pittsburgh to Cairo. Louisville is represented by V. H. Englehard, and W. C. Williams, chairman of the Ohio River Improvement committee.

IN THE COURTS

Circuit Court.

Circuit Judge Wm. Reed has recovered sufficiently to again occupy the bench and began conducting his court again this morning. During Judge Reed's sickness Attorney Tom Crice and Attorney D. G. Park acted as special judges.

This morning the case of Dr. J. D. Smith against the Paducah City Railway was given to the jury and a verdict for $150 damages returned.

Dr. Smith was riding on the car en route home and when 9th and Broadway was reached started to alight from the car. He claims the car was suddenly started up and he was thrown to the ground and badly bruised and injured, necessitating his confinement to his bed for several weeks. He sued for $5,000 damages. The argument was made Saturday but the case did not go to the jury until this morning.

L. P. Dilk was excused as a petit jurymen and J. R. Denny substituted.

In the case of J. R. Cheatham against H. P. Hawkins, the demurrer to the petition was overruled.

The case of Laura Hanners against the Paducah City Railway was tried this morning and given to the jury.

She claims that she was thrown from a car at Eighth and Trimble streets and badly injured, necessitating her confinement in bed for several weeks. She asks for $5,000 damages.

The case of Cora McManus against the Paducah City Railway Co., was on trial at press time. She sues for $2,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained by being thrown from a car at Sixth and Husbands streets.

Arrested Again.

The Hopkinsville New Era states that Contractor George Gardner, of Paducah, has been arrested there again on three separate charges of breaking up the streets and failing to put them down in good condition. Mr. Gardner is one of the contractors who have been building sanitary sewerage at Hopkinsville and the authorities have made it as unpleasant as possible for them since the work started. Mr. Gardner is the Paducahan recently elected sanitary sewerage inspector here.

Suit On Contract.

This morning Sudie Sullivan filed a suit against Thomas E. Lydon for alleged breach of contract.

She alleges he contracted to purchase from her twenty-six and a third shares of stock in the Driskill Post Hole Augur Co., but that he failed to comply with the contract. She sues for $1,053.33 the alleged contract price, less $251 which was secured by judgment in court, when the stock was in litigation.

Marriage Licenses Issued.

Two marriage licenses were issued yesterday. They are:

Charles Edwards, age 33 and Millie Wallace age 22, of Marshall county. First marriage of both.

Garfield Welsh, age 25, and Dora Blanch, age 29, colored, of the city.

Mr. Will Hank's Will.

The will of the late Wm. A. Hank was filed today in county court for probate.

The will is in the handwriting of the deceased and no witnesses were signed. It was dated January 4th, 1905, and he leaves his life insurance and other worldly possessions to his sister, Miss May Hank. He appoints his brother, Mr. Harry Hank, his executor. His estate is not itemized.

Bankruptcy Cases.

Robert L. Knight, of this city, was today granted a discharge in bankruptcy, the papers arriving from Louisville this morning.

Following bankruptcy cases were ordered closed today: William O. Ellington, Marshall county; Harrison F. Keeling, Graves county; John H. Nimmo, Marshall county.

Justice Emery's Court.

Justice Charles Emery held his first court this morning, but did not try any cases. When Justice Emery went into office the first of the year, he took over 50 cases which were on Justice R. J. Barber's docket. Since that time he had docketed 75 cases, making a total of 125 cases on his docket.

The cases will be tried during the intermission of his regular court days. None is very important.

HUSBAND MISSING.

Woman From Hickman Was in Trouble Until Assisted.

A nice-looking young woman with one-year-old twins, arrived this morning on the "cannon ball" from Hickman, Ky. She gave the name of Mrs. Shannon Jones, and said she was looking for her husband, who was a farmer and had been here since Christmas. She expected him to meet her, but he did not, and all she could learn was that he had gone down the river. She was without money or friends, and Officers Henry Singery and Aaron Hurley, on the depot beat, took an interest in the case and provided her with something to eat and Mrs. C. M. Ezell, of Mayfield, Ky., who was in the waiting room at the depot, offered assistance, and gave the woman her fare back to Hickman, $2. Mrs. Jones does not know what has become of her husband, and returned this afternoon to her mother at Hickman.

NEW MAN ARRIVES.

To Accept a Position On the News-Democrat.

Mr. L. Z. Armatrong, formerly of the Chattanooga News, but late of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is in the city to accept a position on the News-Democrat, as managing editor, it is understood.

Managing Editor Goodwin, who came here from the Atlanta News several weeks ago, resigned two weeks ago effective as soon as his successor arrived, and will go south, probably to Atlanta or New Orleans.

PARISH JONES

Is Picked Up On the Street and Taken to Hospital.

Parish Jones, white, who has frequently been in police court, is in Riverside hospital suffering from "fits."

Jones was picked up off the street by City Physician Johnston Bass and taken to Riverside hospital. Jones at one time suggested to the police that he be placed in the asylum for treatment as he thought there was "surely something the matter with him," but it was not deemed necessary.

—Yesterday was the Greek New Year, but there was no celebration here, as Paducah has only one or two Greeks at present.

J. M. Farley, wife and child, of Whittemore, who have been visiting the families of Capt. Ed. Farley and Mr. John Farley, returned home today.

T. W. Patterson, of Murray, was in the city today.

A GOOD CATCH

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER ARRESTED HERE THIS AFTERNOON.

Said to Be C. M. Devine—Agrees to Return Without Requisition Papers Being Secured.

Detectives Moore and Baker this afternoon at 3 o'clock arrested Clarence M. Devine, alias C. M. Devine, of Chicago, for alleged embezzlement.

Chief Collins today received a letter from the Chicago authorities to look out for Devine, giving his description, and stating that he would call for a letter at the general delivery window at the postoffice mailed to him from the Chicago pension commissioner. The detectives were on the lookout for him and arrested him this afternoon, and are holding him, according to instructions from Chicago until an officer can be sent for him. The prisoner offers to return without requisition papers.

The alleged offense was committed July 3rd, 1905, so the letter stated, and the amount of the embezzlement was $108 from Siegel, Cooper & Co.

MR. TOM ALLEN HURT.

Mr. Tom Allen, of near Wallace park, met with a serious accident this morning just before noon while driving out to his home.

His buggy ran over a stump or some other obstruction in the road and jolted him out of the seat. He fell to the ground and in alighting broke several ribs on the right side. Although injured, Mr. Allen managed to get to the house and Dr. Horace T. Rivers was summoned and dressed the injuries. The accident will disable Mr. Allen for some time.

OLDEST HOMEOPATHIST.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 15.—William M. Hill, the oldest practicing physician of the homeopathic school in the state, died at his home here this morning of senility.

He was a native of Logan county, but had lived in Hopkinsville nearly all of his life. Dr. Hill served several terms as city councilman, and had long been a prominent and useful citizen. He was seventy-eight years old.

Mr. Bergdoll Escaped Injury.

Mr. F. J. Bergdoll's horse ran away with him about 1 o'clock this afternoon, but Mr. Bergdoll escaped injury. The animal started near 9th and Ohio streets and ran to 12th and Norton streets. Mr. Bergdoll, who had been unable to stop it, was thrown out as the horse turned into the alley back of Mr. Bergdoll's house near 12th and Norton. He was able to proceed home, and an examination disclosed the fact that he was not hurt.

BLIND MAN IN COUNTY

The fame of the Charity club of Paducah has extended far and wide, and this morning a request for aid was received from an old blind arkey residing five miles in the county. The Charity club does not look after cases outside the city, but County Judge Lightfoot sent the aged man the necessary assistance.

Mrs. J. C. Presnell was today called to Grand Rivers, Ky., by the serious illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Perkins.

PETTY THIEF

MAY AT LAST BE IN THE TOILS AFTER A LONG SEARCH.

More Cases Develop Against Charles Lee, the Negro Harness Thief.

Jim Bradshaw, a tall mulatto, is under arrest pending trial for housebreaking, and the officers think they have in Bradshaw the man who has been doing so much petty thieving and housebreaking during the past few weeks.

Bradshaw resides near Seventh and Clay streets, and is alleged to have broken into and entered the residence of Mr. S. P. Ragsdale, of near Ninth and Boyd streets. Mr. Ragsdale was awakened about midnight Saturday and found a man alleged to be Bradshaw in room. He started for the negro but the intruderman aged to escape him. Mr. Ragsdale got a good look at the burglar, however, and claims he was able to recognize him when arrested by Officers Hill and Ferguson and brought before him for identification.

This morning in police court Bradshaw announced not ready for trial, desiring to summon witnesses and procure a lawyer. The police are confident that they have a badly wanted man and Mr. Ragsdale is so positive in his identification that conviction seems certain.

Further developments tending to implicate Charles Lee, colored, in the wholesale harness thievery which has been going on for several weeks, were announced in police court this morning.

Lee has already been held over on two warrants for stealing harness and selling them as his own. Mr. H. Wallerstein, and Mr. Lee Bolton, identified harness sold by Lee as his own and the defendant was held over for obtaining money by false pretenses. He sold the first set to Lem Jones, colored, and three other sets to a man named White, a farmer of the county. White testified to buying the harness and this morning Messrs. Mel Byrd and James Sleeth identified harness sold to White by the negro but the case was continued in order that the harness be brought to the hall and positively identified. Lee has no lawyer and seems to want none.

Several other sets of harness have been reported stolen but the police have so far been unable to locate any more. It is thought Lee carried on this profession for sometime before he was finally caught.

OVERFLOW MEETINGS AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Nearly 500 Conversions Have Resulted Thus Far.

Big Temperance Rally Begins Jan. 28th—Visitor in Presbyterian Pulpit.

ADDITIONS TO THE CHURCHES.

Three services were held yesterday at the First Baptist church by Evangelist Cates of Louisville who is conducting protracted meeting there, morning, afternoon and night, and all were attended by large crowds. They were deeply impressive in character and much interest was evinced. There were fourteen additions to this church, seven in the morning and seven at night, besides a number of professions at each service.

Two overflow-meetings were held last night. Mr. Cates held the regular service up stairs and Rev. G. W. Hill of Louisville, conducted a meeting in the basement of the church. Rev. G. M. McNeilly of Russellville, held another overflow service at the First Christian church. All were listened to by large crowds.

This will make the ninth week of the revival and it is probable the services will continue but nothing has been definitely decided. So far there have been between 450 to 475 additions to the First Baptist church alone as a result of it, and there has been no count kept of the professions which have been in great number.

A song service was held at the First Presbyterian church last evening, and was listened to by a crowded church. The musical program was very elaborate and beautiful and was arranged by the talented organist, Miss Adah Brazelton, Mrs. David Flournoy, Mrs. George B. Hart, Mrs. Denis McQuot, Mrs. Lela Lewis, Miss Anne Bradshaw, Mr. Robert Scott, Mr. Emmet Bagby, and Mr. Robert Chastaine, were among those taking part in the solos and quartettes. Miss Aline Bagby rendered a very effective violin solo.

At the Second Baptist church there were nine persons baptized after the services last evening. There were, also, two additions to this church last night.

There were four additions by profession to the Broadway Methodist church yesterday, two at the morning service and two at night.

Arrangements are being made to observe Sunday, January 28, in this city with a "Union Gospel Temperance Rally." M. J. Fanning, who is called the "Tom Corwin of Michigan," and is making a 4-months tour of the state in the interest of temperance, will be in Paducah on that day and will hold three meetings. A majority of the local pastors have agreed to call in their regular services for the day and will unite with him. Mr. Fanning will probably fill the pulpit of some of the churches. He is endorsed by the late Frances Willard and the local W. C. T. U.

Rev. Henry H. Sweets, of Louisville, who is the secretary for the Ministerial Educational work of the Southern Presbyterian churches, preached yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church in the interest of the cause he represents. Dr. Sweets is one of the foremost men of this denomination, and delivered an able sermon.

At the song service in the evening he made a fine talk on "The Place of Music in the Bible."

Misses Lillian and Ethel Dawes have returned from visiting Miss Annie Rothrock, of Wickliffe, Ky.

Mr. Pat Halloran, of Cedar Bluff, returned to that place this morning after a business trip to the city.

Miss Bonnie Akers will leave tomorrow for New York city to visit relatives.

Mrs. Pearl Fryer has returned to Memphis after a several weeks' visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Calloway on South Ninth street.

D. P. Newman, a banker at Kevil, Ky., was at the New Richmond house Sunday.

NARROW ESCAPE

SWEDEN WHO IS WITHOUT A HOME HIT BY TRAIN.

Was Sitting on the Track Asleep When a Freight Train Struck Him.

Adolph Lawrence, a Swede, had a narrow escape from being probably fatally injured this morning shortly after 9 o'clock at the I. C. passenger depot.

He was sitting on the concrete platform apparently asleep and was struck by an incoming freight train. The engine cylinder struck the unfortunate man and broke his collar bone on the left side and also several ribs. Fortunately he was knocked off the track and escaped being ground to death under the wheels.

The engineer thought the man was awake and intended getting up when he approached, and after he had gotten near him and saw, it was too late to stop. He slowed down, however, and did not strike the sleeper hard.

Lawrence claimed to be an employee of the road with his hospital dues paid up until the first of the month, but the railroad officials were unable to find any such name on the pay roll. He was brought to the city and taken to Riverside hospital for treatment. Lawrence has been working over the country for several years, and gives no place as his home.

THE NADINOLA GIRL

WHAT DO YOU CARE? YOU'VE GOT YOUR HEALTH.

Great Natures Do Not Despair at Disappointment—They Look For Something Else to Do.

The broad-gauged man of today does not get blue just because things don't always come his way unless there is something the matter with him. If he "falls down" on one proposition he immediately starts to look up another. He always looks forward and keeps on hustling. A man with his health and faculties has plenty of opportunities and the man who gives up or even feels like it has either a small nature or some physical weakness.

Dyspepsia certainly puts the best of men out of condition for work of any kind. You cannot blame the dyspeptic for getting blue. The very nature of his disease is most depressing and calculated to deprive him of ambition, energy and hope. There is hope for him, however, certain and sure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are recognized throughout the length and breadth of the land as the one cure that's safe and sure. Their unbounded popularity—resulting from the thousands and thousands of cures they have effected, prove beyond the shadow of a doubt their greatness as a cure. Wherein lies their greatness? In the very fact that they are Nature's own simple remedy. They do the exact work in exactly the same way that the digestive fluids of the stomach do because they are composed of exactly the same elements and possess the same properties. They relieve the weak and worn out stomach of its burden of digestion and permit it without let or hindrance to rest and grow sound and well. The stomach will get well quick enough in its own natural way, if it is let alone. That is what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do. They not only let it alone themselves but make the food taken into the stomach do the same.

You can satisfy yourself of the truth of this statement by putting the food you would eat into a glass jar with sufficient water and one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The process of digestion will be taken up and carried out just as the gastric juice and other digestive fluids would do it. Their action is natural and they cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. In fact you forget you have a stomach when they begin to do their work, so mild and natural is the operation. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50c a box.

THREE ALARMS

Called Out Fire Departments—No Fires of Consequence.

The fire department made two runs yesterday, one in the morning and the second at night shortly after dark.

The first call was from the Frank L. Scott residence at 333 North 9th street. The stable caught fire on the roof from a flue, the stable having servant quarters in it. The blaze had gained little headway, and was speedily extinguished.

The second alarm came from the residence of Mr. Elmus Carter at 621 Adams street. The roof had caught from a defective flue and was speedily extinguished without more damage than a few dollars in shingling.

The firemen from No. 3 station extinguished a small blaze Saturday afternoon late at the home of Anna Scott, colored, 922 Burnett street. The fire started from a coal fire that fell from the grate.

Some of the New Bills.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 15.—Bill day in the house brought many more interesting measures before the legislature. Among them are the following: To exempt females and minors from the infliction of the death penalty. Providing for publishing the money and other things of value expended by candidates in primaries, conventions and general elections. Making eight hours a legal day's work. Prohibiting baseball and football on Sunday. To force persons convicted of carrying concealed deadly weapons to give bond they will not repeat the offense. Appropriating $10,000 and authorizing the governor to appoint five commissioners to purchase statues of Henry Clay and William Goebel. Increasing the salary of the governor's secretary from $1,200 to $2,500. Repealing the law providing barber's inspectors.

Forced to Starve.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky., says: "For twenty years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At W. B. McPherson's Drug Store; only 25c.

Germany pig iron production in October passed for the first time the million-ton mark. The month's output reached 1,006,943 tons, a gain of 16 per cent over October of last year.

He was born in Montgomery county November 13, 1835, and was a brother of the late J. T. Henry, at one time clerk of the United States supreme court.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 15.—William Davis, aged thirty-five years, a convict in the penitentiary, serving three years for car-breaking, and electrician at the prison, was instantly killed by a shock from an electric wire which he picked up between the shoe factory and the boiler-room. Davis had gone to repair the telephone wire, which comes over the walls and had fallen in the yard. It evidently had "crossed" with an electric light or street car wire, and became heavily charged. Davis, thinking the wire "dead," caught hold of it and was found a few minutes later by Monroe Burton, another convict, in an unconscious condition. His term would have expired next month.

PADUCAH-CENTRAL.

The above is the name of the corporation organized by Prof. Wm. C. Strong, A. E. Strong and E. V. Strong to absorb Central Business College of Paducah, Ky., and take over the equipment of West Tennessee College School of Business at Dyer, Tennessee. The latter School of Business is, at present, conducted by Prof. T. C. Mitchell, B. Acet., who is to join Prof. Strong in the management and conduct of Paducah-Central. Prof. Mitchell is a young man of considerable accounting experience, a fine penman and a thorough teacher. The two colleges have a larger attendance than either has ever had; both being growing institutions of the modern type. The stock of Paducah-Central will be held by Prof. Strong, Prof. Mitchell and one other of its teachers. Both Business Colleges are to be congratulated upon having effected a union so important to Paducah, the preliminary arrangements for which were the object of a visit to Paducah by Prof. T. C. Mitchell last November. Prof. Mitchell was so pleased with Prof. Strong's method of teaching bookkeeping, as to determine to join him in carrying it out on a larger scale than hitherto. Prof. Strong has been assisted in building up Central Business College by Miss Mary E. Whoby and by Miss Matthews, Miss Evans and other teachers. The new arrangement is for a larger teaching force than ever and will bring to Paducah-Central five new Remington machines in addition to the seven now in control of Central Business College, making in all, nearly double the number of machines ever used in any one college in Paducah. The phenomenal success of Central Business College in securing positions for its pupils is well-known to many people in Paducah. After three years of increasing patronage, Prof. Strong remarks the fact that he does not know of a single one of its graduates who is idle. Among its pupils now filling lucrative positions in this city are:

Graduates holding diplomas from so-called business colleges have entered Central Business College to pursue, by modern methods, the branches of study already covered in their diplomas. Quite a number who took the old systems so boastfully advertised and were not satisfied went to Central and took the same branches over again, in the modern way, and are now doing well. One such increased her salary from three dollars per week to fifty dollars per month by so doing. "Delivering the goods" is what Prof. Strong calls the kind of work Paducah-Central is doing. This record Paducah-Central will maintain by carrying a greater teaching force per capita of attendance than other schools.

THE AMERICAN PERIL.
Anonymous European Writer Says It Is Intellectual and Moral.
Berlin, Jan. 15.—A book entitled, "The American Peril" by an anonymous author, which appeared today, describes the "American Peril" not as a commercial menace, but an intellectual and moral danger. The author declares that European industry has nothing to fear from American competition, but the American conception of life, according to the author is brutal, egotistical, immoral and irreligious.

Bent Her Double.
"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at W. B. McPherson's Drug Store; price 50c.

How We Die.
"I have seen over 500 deaths," said a hospital surgeon, "and my observations convince me that we all die fearfully, quite ignorant of the fact that we are going."

"In the novels the dying persons say: 'Good-bye.' 'Keep my grave green,' and so on. In real life he says: 'Give me a glass of water,' or 'Is it time for my medicine again?'"

"A dying woman heard me say: 'It will soon be over.' She frowned at me and said: 'I'll be better in a minute.' They were her last words."

"A dying youth looked at his people weeping about his bed (an inhuman piece of business, by the way, such weeping is) and he said: 'What are you crying for? I am going to get well.' His last words."

"A consumptive said about a minute before he expired: 'This is the only one of my bad spells that hasn't made me afraid I am going to die.'"

"We die in ignorance, in a blessed and merciful ignorance, and there should be no weeping about the beds of the dying, to shatter their ignorance, and fill them, maybe, with grief and horror."

"The last kindness we can offer our beloved is to be calm and cheerful in their presence when they leave us."

Pleasant and Most Effective.
T. J. Chambers, Ed. Vindicator, Liberty, Texas, writes Dec. 25, 1902: "With pleasure and unsolicited by you, I bear testimony to the curative power of Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I have used it in my family and can cheerfully affirm it is the most effective and best remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used." Sold by Alvey & List.

OWENSBORO RABBI
To Marry Cleveland Girl—May Accept Church There.

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 15.—Cupil is the third party in a conspiracy to supply the Scovill-avenue temple with a new rabbi, says the Cleveland Leader. A leading conspirator is Miss Eda Keller, mezzo-soprano in the Willson-avenue temple choir. Equally guilty is Rabbi Nathan Krasnowetz, of Owensboro, Ky., who considers himself fortunate in having obtained the promise of Miss Keller's hand in marriage.

Rabbi Krasnowetz has preached in the Scovill-avenue temple. The impression he made was decidedly favorable. He is a young man, his engagement to Miss Keller, who earnestly desires that he come to Cleveland, is widely known, and "all the world loves a lover."

A sermon was preached yesterday morning in the Willson-avenue temple by the young Kentucky rabbi. The auditorium was filled, and the interest manifested in the able sermon was flattering. The impression he created will help him, it is believed, with the Scovill-avenue congregation, which is considering him favorably for rabbi.

Cured Lumbago.
A. B. Canman, Chicago, writes March 4 1903. "Having been troubled with Lumbago, at different times and tried one physician after another then different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried once more, and got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of sufferers." Sold by Alvey & List.

CHAPTER XV.

I stared at the blank stones, but they returned no sign from their unavailing grayness. The silence began to speak in that gloomy place. Recovering myself, I put down the lantern and considered. First I put the key in my pocket, a definite precaution which was to influence strangely the history of this narrative. It was not conceivable that any one could have opened the heavy door when it was locked, yet the prisoner was gone. "If he is gone," said I aloud in order to reassure myself, "he must needs have gone by some hole." That was incontrovertible. I decided, too, that the means of escape must lie within the dungeon. Once more I inspected the huge oaken door and shook my head. Was there any flaw in the wood? Perchance there was a secret spring in a panel. I went over the surface carefully, but found nothing.

"Very well," said I, "I will unroll this or be hanged for a felon," and I set to work upon the walls. Inch by inch I passed the masonry under my scrutiny, but made no discovery. "I will go over it again," I declared desperately and resumed my work from the beginning. I had not reached a point very far from the door on this second round of investigation when my glance slid off at a venture and almost mechanically rested upon the treasure chests. Something unfamiliar in their appearance vaguely persisted in my thoughts. I left off fumbling with the wall and stood gazing at them. They took my eyes with interest, and, crossing the room, I shed the light upon the cases, fingering the gold pieces under the broken lid. One, two, three—they stood exactly as—no, that was the point. They had been moved!

With a new zest I examined the floor, and, sure enough, one of these chests had been pulled out from the wall as far as its own width. I peeped over it, illuminating the space beyond. The slab of stone which the box had covered was like the other flags that made the floor of the dungeon. I leaned lower, and, sitting crossways on the chest, pushed the slab with my foot. It clanked duly to the kick of my heel; but, what was even more amazing to me, it seemed to shudder and tremble beneath me. Fully aroused to action, I flung myself over and alighted with both feet hard upon the flooring. In another moment I was tipped forward and felt myself falling precipitately upon my face. Catching at the chest with one hand, I saved myself, but in the effort the lantern fell from my hand and went out.

Slowly I groped in the darkness and struck a match, relighting the candle. Then I turned to the slab of stone.

It lay open, displaced, one end protruding upward, and, as I saw, had twisted on some kind of axle. Below was disclosed a great mouth of darkness.

"Come," said I to myself. "I think I know where friend Hood is, and this begins to get interesting."

I felt in my pocket where my revolver lay safely, and, seizing the candle, plunged into the evil looking hole. A stairway of stone ran downward, but very steeply, and I had the utmost difficulty in preventing myself from pitching forward against the rough masonry of the opposite wall. The walls brushed me upon either side as I descended, so narrow was the funnel. Down, down I went, until presently I reached a sort of landing, which broadened into a little irregular chamber. Here a ray of light caught my eye, and I followed it till I happened upon a small door in the wall. A huge key was in the lock, but the bolt was not turned, and by wrenching hard I forced the door open. I now looked down upon the waters of the moat, in which my tiny flame danced in the growing darkness.

After a little consideration I saw where I was. This must be a Sally port, giving access to the fosse. Indeed, the water lapped the lowermost step, upon which I stood. Was it by this way that Hood had escaped? It seemed certain, and, if so, there was nothing for it but to pocket my chagrin, go back and communicate my melancholy news to my friends. Retracing my steps, I shut the door and proceeded to reascend the stairway, but in the act of doing so I paused, for the lantern flashing on the obscure corners revealed to me a second flight of steps leading still downward from this level. Without hesitation and moved by some excitement I abandoned my first intention and plunged down this new well.

The second flight led downward even farther than the first, and must, I reckoned, have brought me under the foundations of the castle. At the bottom I was in a square, damp hole, and before me stretched a tunnel the height of a tall man and very black and miry. The thought of entering upon that mysterious and horrid gallery gave me a momentary pause, but, dissipating my forebodings, I marched forward and was soon buried in the bowels of the earth.

The tunnel was barely six feet in height, and I was obliged to walk with a slight stoop. To add to my discomfort the roof, which was rudely put together of huge stones, was very wet, and water trickled at intervals on my head. Moreover, I was being gradually coated with filth from the sticky nature of the clay through which the gallery was driven and which had, in the course of time, percolated between the stones. But I was now resolved to see the end of the adventure, and so I pushed on, undeterred by the inconveniences and almost oblivious of my fears.

A sense of suffocation accompanied me, but soon that feeling wore off, and I strode along at a sharper pace, lighting my way as well as I could with the lantern and stumbling at intervals over the debris of earth and stone which cumbered the footway. I must have gone some 300 yards in this fashion when I began to find the passage growing lighter. Some time afterward I discovered ahead, but shining as it seemed from a great distance, a point of brightness that grew as I advanced. This was undoubtedly the mouth of the tunnel, and, assured now of reaching some goal and no longer oppressed by the terror of that dismal alley, I increased my pace, moving forward to the light with a cheerful alacrity.

Thus I drew near to the jaws of that exit and came presently from the gallery itself into a wider space of cavern facing the heavens and rained upon by stars. About me the hollow, shadowed and hidden under the thick autumn foliage, was very gently luminous.

I had now to determine my position, and I will confess that I could not make the least guess of my whereabouts. A noise of water ran in my ears, coming from my right hand, and toward this I pushed my way. The trees were close, and the undergrowth of bracken and bushes rendered my advance very gradual, but by degrees I arrived at my point and found, what I had lately begun to suspect, that the sound rose from the little brook, which here descended the face of a steep slope in a pleasant gushing waterfall. A great gout of water, flung from the stones, dashed in my face quite merrily, and, heated with the confinement of the gallery and my long and troublesome passage, I stooped and bathed my face and hands in the running stream. I now began to see where I was. This was a point in the Gwent below the castle where the brook left the park and where the hill fell suddenly away into the valley, clothed with a dense forest and traversed by few save charcoal burners.

I reflected that this was a valuable add to the castle, and then upon that felt like a blow the second thought—that Hood might have chosen this mode of escape, in which case the gallery was a drawback to us rather than an advantage. And yet it appeared ridiculous to suppose that a fugitive would hunt about to follow the longer and more arduous route of flight. On the whole, I decided that Hood must have fled by the Sally port and across the moat. Anyhow, he was gone, and it behooved us to renew our defenses and concert our plans afresh.

As I reached this conclusion in my

Every Heart Beat

Forces about 8 ounces of blood out of the heart, and sends it coursing through the veins to the remotest part of the body. This is the amount required by nature to nourish and sustain your body. Every ounce less than this means a shortage in nature's supply of building-up material. A weak heart cannot meet this demand, and consequently you suffer. If your heart skips a beat, or flutters, palpitates, pains you, or you have shortness of breath, you may be sure that the heart is working imperfectly.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will strengthen the heart muscles and nerves.

"I had been a great sufferer for 15 years. At the time I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I had been confined to my bed for four months. I had frequent sinking spells, sometimes as many as three in a day, during which my heart would seem to stop beating, necessitating the calling of a physician to resuscitate me. Before finishing the first bottle the sinking spells had ceased, and I took altogether five bottles for a complete cure. I now enjoy perfect health, and am very grateful for this wonderful medicine, for it is the means of my being with my family now."

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all various diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all such affections as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

fever, with the sound of the waters pleasantly dulling my ears, I seemed to catch sight of a reflection flashing black among the tangled lights of the pool below me. The next moment I was hurled headlong, and when I was awake to my position ten seconds later the blood was drumming in my ears, my temples throbbing with pain, and two men were kneeling on my chest.

"Let him be, Charaxos! Loose his throat, you fool!" said a voice which had a familiar effect upon me. I staggered to a sitting position, the two ruffians holding me, and stared about me.

"Very sorry, sir," said Hood. "Hope they didn't choke you too much, sir. 'Twas a near go."

I gasped, considering him. "I came to bring your supper, Hood," I stammered, and to this day I am glad to think I took the reverse with so much coolness. For it was no mean feat, I can assure you, with the breath out of my body and my wits wandering and my head ringing from an ugly blow.

"Thank you, sir," said Hood, with his usual effrontery. "Thank you kindly, sir, I'm sure."

I could have sworn the man was more of a gentleman than a valet, and he was certainly more of a scoundrel than either. But, having discharged this civility, he turned his back and paid me no further attention, merely issuing an order to his cutthroats. The two dirty Greeks, one of whom was my squinting acquaintance, marched me along without more ado. And if I had considered the possibility of escape the fancy was dispelled by the presence of two more besides Hood himself, which I discovered when we began to move. I said nothing, keeping my eyes wide open and my brain as ready as might be, nor was any word spoken upon either side until we drew up at the Woodman, stopping before which Hood requested me to enter in his most conventionally hospitable manner.

I was much exercised in my mind as to the use these brigands could have for me, but as yet the situation was too novel to allow me consecutive thought. I was led into a large, barn-like building beyond the inn and reached by a flight of wooden steps outside. The room was large and airy and had evidently not been used for a granary these many years. Indeed, it bore the plain marks of recent habitation, and it came across me that maybe this had been the hiding place of the Greek sailors.

NOT YET CERTAIN HOME WILL BE SOLD

Lexington Pythians Hope State Home Will Be Retained.

Effort Made to Induce Captain Ford to Remain in Charge Until There Is Reconsideration.

SETTLEMENT MAY BE IN FALL

There is yet a feeling of indecision upon the part of the representatives of the Pythian grand lodge concerning the ultimate disposition of the Home for Widows and Orphans recently purchased near this city, but which was ordered to be resold because of some apprehension in regard to its exclusive use for Pythian widows and orphans, says the Lexington Leader yesterday.

An effort has been made to induce Capt. J. C. Ford to reconsider his resignation and remain at the home until the matter can be finally settled. This Mr. Ford has declined to do because of his appointment to the office of captain of the police department, although he has made a sacrifice in giving up the office he held as superintendent of the Home.

It is believed by some that the Home will yet be retained, and some of the grand officers are inclined to rent it out for the summer until the controversy can be satisfactorily settled. Should the Home finally be sold again the grand lodge will be loser to the extent of $21,000, which must be paid back out of the proceeds of the sale to the donors. Of the above sum the local Pythian lodges contributed the sum of $10,000, conditioned that the Home be located in Lexington. Should the Home be sold this will have to be returned, with $6,000 to the country of Fayette and $5,000 to the city of Lexington, donations made conditionally upon the Home being retained in Lexington, but to be refunded if it should ever be moved away.

There are doubts that the issues can be settled before next fall, while many believe that the next grand lodge will rescind the order of sale and decide to keep the property and use it for the purposes for which it was bought.

CAUGHT PROWLER.

But He Showed Fight, and Finally Got Away.

There was a lively mixup in the rear of the residence of Mr. J. M. Luttrell, 904 Broadway, last night about 7 o'clock in which Mr. Clayton Luttrell, son of Mr. Luttrell, and D. C. Parker, an I. C. flagman, and an unknown prowler, participated, but the prowler made good his escape, and no clue to his identity could be secured.

About 7 o'clock Mr. Clayton Luttrell heard a noise in the back yard and went out to investigate. He found a big man of about 200 pounds in the yard. He asked what the prowler wanted and the latter asked "what in the h—l it was to him. The lad advanced to see who the stranger was and received a blow. By this time flagman Parker had come out, hearing the noise, and the stranger attacked him. All three mixed and finally the prowler was routed and fled.

He jumped the fence and that was the last seen of him. He is described as a big red-faced man and the young man thinks he would recognize him again if he saw him.

Rev. Carlisle P. B. Martin, L. L. D. Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." Sold by Alvey & List.

DEADHEAD EXPRESS

Is Taboo, Beginning This Morning.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 15.—The use of express franks, which are stamps under which which express packages are "deadheaded," came to an end today when all the railway express companies put into effect a rule forbidding the carrying of free matter, except for railroads where their contracts require it. The growth of the "dead-head" business and the spread of anti-graft sentiment, together with the passage of laws in several states forbidding the carrying of free matter, have induced the express companies to wipe out the system.

DR. BYERS LOSES $150 TO CON MEN

Dropped it as Directed in Evansville and Thieves Got it.

He Had Been Promised That His Lost Son Would Be Restored to Him.

POLICE AT WORK ON THE CASE.

Chief of Police James Collins and the Paducah police were much surprised to learn yesterday that Dr. A. L. Byers of Seelyville, Ind., had been the victim of a "con" game at Evansville, Ind., and lost $150. Dr. Byers was in Paducah a week ago Saturday looking for his son, who was believed to be on a shanty boat here. The boy here was not the doctor's son, who disappeared two years ago and is supposed to have been stolen by gypsies.

Dr. Byers received a letter from Evansville last week that if upon hearing two whistles he would drop $150 in a newspaper in the gutter at Main and William streets in Evansville and walk to the depot, he would find his long lost son waiting for him there. The doctor, instead of having a detective to go to the vicinity and watch after the money was left, unhesitatingly left the money as directed and went to the depot. His son did not appear and finally he became suspicious and reported the occurrence to the police.

Yesterday's Evansville Journal-News said of the later developments: "It is now believed by the local police and detective departments that the man who buncoed Dr. S. L. Byers of Seelyville, Ind., out of $150 in this city Friday night, was a stranger. The officials are working on this theory and while no arrests have been made, they are nearer a solution of the problem than they were a few hours ago.

"When Dr. Byers received a letter from an unknown man in this city several days ago telling him to come to this city, and after following instructions he would get his boy, he approached Henry Loughner, a friend, and presented the matter to him. Loughner agreed to accompany Dr. Byers to this city and the two arrived Friday evening. They agreed to put the $150 in bills in an envelope as directed and drop the bundle in a gutter on Outer Main street as soon as two shrill whistles were heard.

"Loughner feared all along that there might be some scheme on foot on the part of sharpers and told Dr. Byers so, but the latter was so bent on leaving the money that Loughner gave in. Loughner, however, decided to take the numbers of all the bills before they were wrapped in the newspaper and his thoughtfulness gave the police the only clue they have. After Dr. Byers realized that he had been buncoed he went to the police station with Loughner and the numbers of the bills were turned over to the officials. Several copies of the numbers have been distributed to the saloon keepers and business men in the hope of finding the guilty party or parties.

"One of the bills has already turned up. Late Friday night a stranger walked into the Manhattan saloon at the corner of Main and Fifth streets and after buying a drink gave the bartender a ten dollar bill. The number of the bill passed was 546848 and it is now in the hands of Capt. Christ Heuer. Billy Wolfe, the bartender who took the bill, described the stranger who passed it as a man five feet seven inches high and from twenty-seven to thirty years old. He had long dark hair that was combed low on both sides. He wore a soft brown hat and a brownish overcoat."

Dr. Byers has already spent a fortune looking for his son, and is almost impoverished. The $150 out of which he was buncoed he had to borrow.

Loeblin, worthy vice-president; Luther Carson, chaplain; Dr. Robert Sory, physician; George C. Parker, worthy secretary. Mr. William F. Robertson, captain of the degree team, and the remainder of the team are Edward McCoy, Charles Vincent, Daniel Glass, D. P. Martin and Robert Wathen.

Cuban Special Popular. Illinois Central officials report a brisk demand for space in the Cuban special, which has now made three trips. They believe that a large business will be developed between Chicago, St. Louis and Havana, and that the passenger receipts will well justify the outlay for this service.

MANY MEASURES AFFECTING CITIES

Of the Second Class Come Up at Frankfort.

The Committee in Charge Will Meet Wednesday—Delegation From Here Going.

THE MAYOR WILL PROBABLY GO

The four second-class cities in Kentucky, Covington, Newport, Lexington and Paducah, are destined to take up more time of the legislature this year than ever before, according to a dispatch from Frankfort, which says:

"Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 15.—The joint committee on municipalities will meet Wednesday to consider legislation affecting cities of the second-class, which includes Lexington, Paducah, Covington and Newport. A number of bills have been introduced affecting the cities, including the establishment of park boards, the annexation of territory, the building of streets, sewers, etc. These four cities are apt to occupy as much attention this session as Louisville did the last one. It is probable that delegations from those cities affected will be in Frankfort to appear before the committee. The mayor of Paducah is expected with a delegation from the commercial club of that city. The committee has organized, electing L. J. Diskin as secretary."

It is not known who will go to Frankfort to look after the interests of Paducah, but the matter will be referred to the legislative boards this evening. It is likely that the mayor and several members of the boards will be appointed, as the matter is of paramount importance, and if the city expects to cut any figure in the legislation to be enacted for second-class cities at this term, it will have to have men on hand to look after its interests.

Mayor Yeiser was a member of the delegation that went to Lexington recently to hold a conference and agree on changes desired in the charter, and he was also a member of the committee that went up to attend the legislature two years ago and secure changes desired by Paducah.

Owing to the importance of the present measures, it is thought the mayor will be on hand at the meeting at Frankfort this week of the legislative committee, especially as he is expected, and as mayors from other second-class cities are to be on hand.

The mayors of the second-class cities held a meeting last month in Lexington and agreed on a good many bills they wanted passed and it is to look after them that the Frankfort meeting will be held. Mayor Yeiser today received wires from the mayors of Lexington and Covington stating they would be there and also had telegrams from Mr. Ed. Leigh and Representative Head suggesting that he attend, and he said today that he would go if the council tonight so directed.

"There are a good many bills up affecting Paducah," he said today, "and I think we should have a representative there for a few days to look after them and to get any assistance necessary to push them through, and I shall go, if the council wishes it."

If the mayor goes to Frankfort the city will have a republican mayor for the first time in its history. By virtue of being president of the board of aldermen, Alderman Oscar Starks will be mayor in any absence from the city of the mayor. Some of Mayor Yeiser's republican friends have twitted the mayor over this fact and told him he was afraid to leave the city as no doubt dire things would be done during his absence, but his honor professions not to be afraid.

A meeting of the general council and the attorneys for the East Tennessee Telephone Co. will be held at some time convenient at an early date and a settlement of the differences between the city and the company effected. The city has about agreed to grant the concessions the company asks for and the company will ask for a franchise.

In the franchise the maximum price the company can charge for its service will be fixed, but the city officials say they will put the independent Telephone company on the same basis. Under its present franchise this company is permitted to charge no more than $2.50 a month for a telephone and the East Tennessee Telephone Co. wants to put the maximum at $4.50. This will no doubt be done, and a special enactment made to allow the independent company to charge the same if it wishes.

The city has never found a purchaser for the old city hospital. The mayor advertised it for sale for some time, but has never had an offer he would entertain. It is a very good piece of property, however, and he is not uneasy about not finding a buyer just now.

The Commercial club is very much interested in four bills before the legislature and if the city does not send a representative to Frankfort to look after the bills the city is interested in, the Commercial club will probably send a representative. Members of the club were in conference with the city officials today with reference to the matter.

Mr. Louis Bebout and Mr. Frank Boone, representing the local board of fire insurance underwriters, will go before the council, or probably a committee from the council, today, to ask for a reduction in the license law governing taxation on insurance companies. Most of the agents are anxious to have the law made as heretofore, that is, each company doing business in the city pay a license of $50 a year, and this will probably be done.

The school board officials are not satisfied with the appropriation the council will allot the schools. It is understood that the council figures on it getting $35,000, and a number of the school board said today that this was insufficient to permit the schools to be run as they should be.

"We want, and we need, $40,000 to operate the schools properly this year," said a member of the board today. "Paducah's schools can no longer be run on the appropriation we get under the law and the high standard of efficiency of our schools, as at present, kept up. Our schools are conceded to be as good as can be found in most places the size of Paducah and we want to keep that reputation. It is essential that our schools be as good as they can be made, for good schools make for a good citizenship which is the hope and salvation of a country."

The general council will meet tonight at 7 o'clock, as a committee of the whole to take up the apportionment ordinance. The council usually meets at 7:30, but owing to the amount of business to come up tonight, the mayor suggested the earlier hour.

LIKE MARCH.

Much Wind Today—Indications of a Change.

Today has been more like a March day than a January day.

The sky showed some signs of rain in the early morning, but the wind was too high. The clouds were broken by the wind and the velocity of the wind was pretty high the entire morning, blowing dust, dirt, tree limbs and everything not nailed down, in every direction on the streets. The barometer indicates a change.
